Event Description

Wild Foods - Looking back 60.000 years for clues to our future survival. “We have much to learn from the World’s longest living culture (the Indigenous Australians), who had no need for wild medicines for nearly all of the diseases of nutrition, as their food and lifestyles protected them.” Learn more about Wild Foods and discuss it live at the IHW Webinars. The IHW Webinars are a mix of interactive, innovative presentations and Q&A discussion, offering an engaging learning environment and a flexible platform for know-how exchange. During the next months, expert speakers from 7 countries and 4 continents will discuss wellbeing solutions and preventive measures. Webinar on Monday and Tuesday, February 27 and 28, 2017. Free to attend, but must register in advance. Maximum of 500 participants, on a first come, first served basis. Set the webinar to your time zone.
